Dear parent/carer

Independent Review of SEND Provision

Professor Adam Boddison has been appointed to undertake a review of current SEND (Special Educational Needs and/or Disabilities) provision across schools and colleges in the local area. This is to support collaboration, to identify gaps, and to ensure that resources are being used as effectively as possible.

As part of this process, it is important that the views of key stakeholders are included. This survey is open to all stakeholders including families, teachers, governors and volunteers. It is really important that we include your views and the deadline to complete the survey is 31st October.

The survey typically takes around 10 minutes to complete and is anonymous. There is no requirement to answer all of the questions and once the review is completed the raw data will be deleted. Individual responses will remain confidential and only aggregated data will be shared with school leaders as part of the wider review process.
